ABSTRACT

25X1 In the first memo Mr. [redacted] 25X1A argues that the terms "editorial" and "substantive" are misleading. Both the Intelligence Staff and the Branches of ORE come into contact with both types of functions. It is the Staff's duty to decide what is published because of its overall view while the Branches, whose views are limited, must devote themselves to correctness. Both groups are subject to reference to the AD/ORE in case of disagreement. The Second memo disagrees with Mr. [redacted] 25X1A assertion that the above terms are misleading. It states that the Branch chiefs have a sufficient overall view and that the Intelligence Staff should not be allowed to publish only what it sees fit because this could result in grave consequences. The memo asks for a meeting to solve this.
